The day begins and ends here. It's the engine room, where ingredients are transformed, wine breathes and magically vanishes, stories are told and culinary secrets are shared. It's a room that's Art has always been at the centre of my life, and my own personal collection is a constant source of pleasure and delight. I've always displayed it to its best advantage, and now I believe that Thornton too, offers the perfect showcase for your collection. Every aspect has been considered, resulting in a museum quality display for your prized collection in your new home.
